University Hosts Killam Trustees

The Trustees of the Izaak Walton Killam Estate met on campus earlier this month. Donald N. Byers, Q.C. (chairman); Conrad F. Harrington; John H. Matthews; and Major General the Hon. E.C. Plow conducted a business meeting and met with a number of University people including Larry Henderson, Secretary of the Killam Scholarship Committee, and Killam Memorial Postdoctoral Fellows David Harris (Geology), Noorallah Juma (Soil Science), Neville Pankhurst (Zoology), Wojciech Rozmus (Electrical Engineering), Bernd Speiser (Chemistry), Rita Steblin (Music), and Michael Palmer (Political Science). (The other Killam Fellows studying here are John Aho (Zoology), Gordon Hopkins (Psychology), David Justice (Linguistics), and Mahendra Wijayasinghe (Animal Science).)

The trustees were honored at a luncheon at the Faculty Club on 5 October at which President Horowitz presented copies of former President John's book A History of The University of Alberta 1908-1969 to each.

Dr. Horowitz reminded the numerous luncheon invitees that the Killam endowments of 1965 were the first major endowments for this University. They give us an opportunity to indicate to others what can be done given these resources, he added.

In addition to the Killam Memorial Chairs, the University offers two categories of awards for advanced study: The Izaak Walton Killam Memorial Scholarships and the Izaak Walton Killam Memorial Postdoctoral Scholarships. In the first category, the Killam

Scholarship Committee will annually give up to eight scholarships to outstanding students who at the time of application have completed at least one year of graduate study. There is no restriction as to citizenship. Each award is renewable for an additional two years upon continued exceptional performance. The field of study is open.

The Postdoctoral Scholarships are made to outstanding young individuals who have recently completed the PhD. Appointments are for a period of two years and are tenable only at The University of Alberta. The field of research is open.

Izaak Walton Killam, born in 1885 at Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, was for forty years president of Royal Securities. During his tenure the company became one of Canada's most influential investment houses and Mr. Killam established himself as one of the preeminent figures in Canadian financial history.

He married Dorothy Brooks Johnston in 1922 and the couple resided in Montreal, the centre of the Killam financial empire.

Upon his death in 1955 Mrs. Killam assumed control of the substantial estate and went on to vastly increase the fortune over the next ten years. She died in 1965, leaving a will in which she bequeathed funds in trust to Dalhousie University, The Montreal Neurological Institute, the Canada Council, The University of Alberta, and the University of British Columbia. In 1967 part of the bequest to The University of Alberta was transferred to the University of Calgary when the latter institution obtained its own charter.

"My purpose is establishing the Killam Trusts is to help in the building of Canada's future by encouraging advanced study," Mrs. Killam said. "Thereby I hope, in some measure, to increase the scientific and scholastic attainments of Canadians, to develop and expand the work of Canadian universities, and to promote sympathetic understanding between Canadians and the peoples of other countries."

The Killam Trustees, who rotate their meetings among the six benefitting institutions, heard from, among others, Mathew Yedlin, a former Killam Postdoctoral Fellow at this University who is now a research associate with Conoco Oils Ltd. in the United States, and Mavor Moore, Chairman of the Canada Council. A musical interlude in the form of a harpsichord recital was supplied by Rita Steblin. Dr. Steblin, who has a BMus from the University of British Columbia (1973), an MA from the University of Toronto (1974), and a PhD from the University of Illinois (1980), is currently in the second year of a two-year Killam Memorial Post doctoral Fellowship in the Department of Music.

Her 5 October recital in Convocation Hall included harpsichord music from England, France, Italy, and Austria/Germany, and was enhanced by a knowledgeable commentary on both the period and the style of the various selections. Dr. Steblin was joined on the program by Leonard Ratzlaff, Regula Qureshi, and Lawrence Fisher, all from the Department of Music.

The highlight of the Killam Conference was the presentation of the Izaak Walton Killam Memorial Prize, the most prestigious of the Canada Council's Killam awards. Initiated in 1981, the prize is intended to honor eminent Canadian scholars actively engaged in research, whether in industry, government agencies, or universities. It is not related to a particular accomplishment, but is given in recognition of distinguished lifetime achievement and an outstanding contribution to the advancement of knowledge in any of the fields of the natural sciences, medicine, or engineering.

The 1982 recipient of the Memorial Prize is William T. Tutte, Distinguished Professor of Mathematics at the University of Waterloo. One of the world's leading authorities on both graph theory and the related theory of matroids, Dr. Tutte is constantly in demand as a speaker at international conferences and research centres.

A Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada, and the 1975 winner of the Tory Medal, Dr. Tutte was honored in 1977 at a special conference held in his honor at Cambridge University.

Dr. Tutte accepted his Killam Prize at a banquet held in his honor at the Faculty Club. Mayor Moore, in presenting the award, referred to Dr. Tutte as being "head and shoulders above all the others in his field." "If there were such a thing as a Nobel Prize in mathematics," he continued, "then Dr. Tutte would surely have been a candidate."

With a delightful sense of understatement and wit, Dr. Tutte afforded his audience some insights into his life's work. While confessing to a "wilful ignorance of the practical applications of graph theory," Dr. Tutte used, nonetheless, some very practical examples to illustrate the basis of the work that has won him international acclaim of the highest order.

In concluding remarks, Donald Byers, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, indicated the pleasure of the Board at the success of the conference, and, in particular, the selection of Dr. Tutte as recipient of the Memorial Prize. "We thank you," he said to Dr. Tutte, "for the work that you have done, and for the lustre that you have added to the Killam name by accepting the scholarship prize." □

Administration and the University Council for Educational Administration, has set as its theme "The Use of Microcomputers in Instruction." The presentations for the program will be beamed from Ohio State via satellite to twenty-five universities across North America who plan to participate. Individuals at each of the sites will have opportunity to ask questions or make comments during the day.

The two objectives of the Teleconference are, first, to share the latest practical information on the use of microcomputers in schools, and second, to test the Teleconference as a medium of instruction and as a vehicle for a conference on educational themes.

Further information can be obtained from David Friesen, John J. Bergen, or C.S. Bumbarger, Department of Educational Administration, The University of Alberta. □

Shuichi Kato

EFF Distinguished Visitor, East Asian Languages and Literatures

Shuichi Kato, described by his colleagues as a "twentieth century renaissance man," will spend two weeks at this University as a Distinguished Visitor in East Asian Languages and Literatures, beginning 22 October.

A graduate of the Faculty of Medicine at Tokyo University (1943), and a member of the US-Japan Joint Medical Team for the Investigation of A-Bomb Effects in Hiroshima (1945), Dr. Kato turned to the world of literature as his principal profession while pursuing medical research in France in the early '50s. His collected writings (fifteen volumes to date) include novels, poetry, literary criticism on western and eastern topics, scholarly works on both Japanese and Chinese classical literature, philosophical treatises, and studies of history, modern politics, and society. "There are few indeed," says R.P. Dore in a foreword to one of Dr. Kato's books, "who have quite the breadth of interests and accomplishments of Shuichi Kato... above all, he is a citizen of the world, with an insatiable curiosity about all things human."

Fluent in several languages, Dr. Kato has taught at institutions in both Europe and North America. In 1960 he lectured in the Faculty of Humanities at his alma mater, Tokyo University; from 1960 to 1969 he was a member of the Canada Department of Asian Studies at the University of British Columbia; and from 1969 to 1973 he was director and professor at Ostasiatisches Institut, Freie Universität Berlin. He was a visiting lecturer at Yale University from 1974 to 1976 and has, since that time, been a Professor of Comparative Cultures at Sophia University in Tokyo.

The breadth of knowledge and diversity of experience Dr. Kato brings to any subject will be made apparent in a series of public lectures that he will present during his two week visit to campus (see Coming Events, page 5.) A highlight of the series will be a lecture — "Japan: Where does it go from here?" — on Thursday, 28 October beginning at 7:30 p.m. in Tory LB-2.

In addition to the lecture series, Dr. Kato will be an invited participant in several courses offered by the Department of East Asian Languages and Literatures and, indeed, may well take part in graduate level courses in related disciplines.

Dr. Kato's visit to The University of Alberta is made possible by the Endowment Fund for the Future. East Asian Languages and Literatures made the application for his visit; the application was also endorsed by the Departments of Anthropology, Comparative Literature, History, Political Science, Religious Studies, and Sociology. More information on his stay may be obtained by contacting Sonja Arntzen, East Asian Languages and Literatures, telephone 432-5749. □

Planetary Geologist to Deliver 1982 Henry Marshall Tory Lecture

Harold Masursky, a planetary geologist of international acclaim, will present this year's Henry Marshall Tory Lecture. On Tuesday, 26 October Dr. Masursky will speak on "Exploration of Venus, Jupiter and Saturn." His address, which begins at 8 p.m. in the Students' Union Theatre, will be illustrated with slides and films from the United States and the Soviet Union.

Dr. Masursky, who holds a BS (1943) and an MS (1951) from Yale University and a DSc (1981) from Northern Arizona University, began his work in general geology with the United States Geological Survey in 1951. Eleven years later he joined the Astrogeologic Studies branch of the Survey, where he is currently Senior Scientist. His involvements with the Geological Survey are many and include being a member of the Apollo group for lunar exploration, the Apollo orbital science photographic team, the interunion commission for study of the moon, and deputy team leader of the Viking Mars 1975 orbital imaging team.

Dr. Masursky holds memberships in numerous professional societies including the Geological Society of America, the American Geophysical Union, the International Astronomical Union, and the Committee on Space Research. He has been a member of the Mars Science Working Group since 1977, the Venus Orbiting Imaging Radar Science Working Group since 1978, the Space Science Advisory Committee of NASA Advisory Council since 1979, and the Solar System Exploration Committee since 1980.

The Henry Marshall Tory Lecture, one of the most prestigious of the University's annual lectures, is named in honor of the University's first president and has, since its inception in 1956, attracted many distinguished, international speakers in a variety of disciplines. Sponsored each year by the Friends of The University of Alberta, the Tory Lecture is free of charge and the public is encouraged to attend.□

Legal Information Systems About to be Given Word 'Go'

The Weir Memorial Law Library of The University of Alberta has received a grant from the Alberta Law Foundation to develop and implement the operation of two on-line legal information systems. These systems have been designed and implemented by Patricia Rempel, Reference Librarian in the Law Library who is responsible for the operation of the service and for the development of future enhancements.

The initial systems are: (1) Alberta Case Locator — This service covers written decisions from the Alberta Courts of Appeal and Queen's Bench. It provides on-line access from time of the unreported judgement and is updated to incorporate the reported citation and the status of appeal; (2) Alberta Board Decision Locator — This service will cover the decisions of selected Alberta administrative boards, including: the Planning Board, the Surface Rights Board, and the Assessment Appeal Board.

The first system, the Alberta Case Locator, will be completely operational, on the basis of 1982 decisions, by the end of October 1982. The service is currently available on a limited basis.

The Alberta Board Decision Locator service is expected to be available by the end of 1982, again on the basis of the current decisions.

At the outset the service will be available on-line during regular office hours by telephoning (403) 432-5598. When fully operational, monthly printouts will be provided to the Provincial Court and Law Society Libraries.

A demonstration of the Alberta Case Locator can be arranged by phoning Patricia Rempel at the above number.□

Tanzanian Educators Visit

During the past while this University hosted a visit by Issa Omari and Donatus Komba from the Department of Education of the University of Dar-es-Salaam. The two visiting professors came to explore the possibilities of cooperative relationships between their Faculty of Education in Dar-es-Salaam and The University of Alberta — more specifically the Faculty of Education here. The University of Dar-es-Salaam is expecting to upgrade its present department of education into a full fledged Faculty of Education and it is part of their hope that The University of Alberta, which has had a long association with education in Tanzania, might be able to help them in this exercise. Their visit was largely financed by a grant from CIDA.

Drs. Omari and Komba met and had long discussions with President Horowitz; with Amy Zelmer, Associate Vice-President (Academic), who is in charge of international programs; and with the Dean of the Faculty of Education, W. H. Worth. In addition, they met with the Chairmen of all the Departments of the Faculty of Education, the Librarian of the H.T. Coutts Library, and with other members of the Faculty of Education. They also paid visits to and had discussions with members of the Faculties of Extension and Physical Education and Recreation. Dr. Komba gave a talk on "Recent Developments in Education in Tanzania" which was very well received.

A team of three educators from the Faculty of Education expects to pay a return visit to Tanzania in early January in order to work out more clearly areas of possible cooperation between the two Universities in the field of education.□

A Look at Aesthetics

The fortieth Annual Meeting of the American Society for Aesthetics will be held later this month in Alberta. Sponsored by the University's Department of Philosophy, the meeting will run from 27 to 30 October at the Banff Springs Hotel.

Numerous sessions will be held during the three-day conference, focusing on different aspects of aesthetics. Three special sessions are: "Architectural and Urban Aesthetics," featuring Canadian architects Harold Hanen, Raymond Moriyama, and Ron Walkey; a presidential address entitled "Cold and Remote Art," and given by Francis Sparshott, Victoria College, the University of Toronto; and thirdly a performance of "Theodora," with music composed and directed by Arnold Berleant, scenario, stage design and introduction by Joyce Rosa, and choreography by Laslo Tomasik.

Other sessions to be presented include such topics as aesthetics and culture, film aesthetics, aesthetics of the performing arts, critical concepts, and psychological and moral applications.

Further information and registration forms may be obtained by contacting Roger A. Shiner, Professor of Philosophy, 4-81 Humanities Centre, telephone 432-7709.□

People's Republic of China Recruiting Teachers

Given current unemployment statistics, qualified teachers looking for work may be interested in a memorandum being circulated by the Embassy of the People's Republic of China in Canada. The subject of said memorandum? The recruitment of foreign language teachers in China.

For those interested, the following information is available. Qualifications for prospective language teachers include: (1) a relatively high attainment in English (French) language and literature; (2) three or more years of regular language or literature teaching at a recognized college or university, or five or more years in a senior high school setting; (3) an MA or higher degree in disciplines suited to the needs of the given Chinese educational institution; and (4) clear enunciation, standard pronunciation, and intonation.

Applicants invited to teach in China will receive remuneration in two parts; a net income (that is, a monthly salary), and additional benefits which include free lodging, free transportation to and from work, and free medical service. Those whose agreement is for one calendar (or academic) year will receive direct route tourist class air fare to and from China; however, should the contract be broken, reimbursement of all travel expenses will be the responsibility of the teacher in question. Those whose contract is for more than one calendar (academic) year may bring their spouse and children, under twelve, whose round-trip fare will also be paid by the host institution.

Anyone interested in receiving more information on the recruitment program should contact the Chinese Embassy, P.O. Box 5935, New Terminal Alta Vista, Ottawa, Ontario, telephone (613) 234-4721. □

Ancient Laws of Iceland Find Their Way to University Law Library

The "Law Rock" is not a new form of modern music. Nor is it a dance perfected by aspiring young lawyers. Rather, the Law Rock is an historic site. Situated near Reykjavik, Iceland, it has been for centuries a focal point in the life and history of the peoples of that northern country.

Once a year, for hundreds of years past, the Law Speaker of Iceland would travel to the Law Rock to recite the laws of the land. Even today, yearly celebrations take place at the rock; celebrations that reaffirm the importance of the law, the language, and the history of one of the earliest democracies in the world.

A celebration of a different sort took place recently in the University's Wein Memorial Law Library. On Friday, 1 October, a limited anniversary edition of Jonsbok, the ancient law codes of Iceland, was presented to the Law Library for placement in its rare book room.

Codex Scardensis, a facsimile edition in full color, with a scholarly introduction by leading specialists, was published to mark the 700th anniversary of the ratification of Jonsbok. For it was in 1281 that the Icelandic General Assembly first prepared a written record of their laws; prior to that time, they had relied solely on the yearly recitation at the Law Rock.

A copy of the limited edition came to The University of Alberta by a rather circuitous route. Stefan G. Stefansson is known as one of the premier writers of Iceland. But he was an Icelandic writer with a difference, for all his poetry was written after leaving Iceland and taking up residence in the Alberta town of Markerville. The Stefansson home was recently restored by the Historic Sites division of the provincial government and, at the reopening in August, the Icelandic Minister of Culture, Ingvar Gislason, presented to the Alberta Minister of Culture a copy of the Codex Scardensis. And, in her turn, Mary LeMessurier, Culture Minister, felt it appropriate that the rare and valuable book be added to the collection of rare books housed in the Law Library.

"We are really thrilled to receive a copy of the Codex Scardensis," said Lillian MacPherson, Law Librarian, at the recent presentation. "Not only is it a beautiful edition, but it will be a very useful one as well."

And while the book will be housed in the Law Library's rare book room, it will by no means be inaccessible. "We are great believers in the availability of our books," commented Frank Jones, Dean of Law. "It will be held in high honor and considered a valuable resource for staff and students alike." □

A United Way Message

At the end of the first two weeks, the United Way campaign at the University has received $69,335.57 in pledges and cheques from 431 employees (262 academic and 169 non-academic staff members). This is slightly more than seven percent of the total staff.

It's unrealistic to expect that all of the remaining ninety-three percent of the staff will contribute. However, if half of that group (2,785) would each pledge a minimum of $1.50 per month, we would receive an additional $50,000 and exceed our goal. It would also give us fifty-three percent participation.

There are really two goals: $110,000 as our share of the campaign, and an indication of increasing participation by University employees. The United Way campaign has broad support from individuals, labor unions, business, and government. One way we can show our support for the community in which we live is to contribute to the thirty-nine agencies engaged in community service. The number participating is very important.

The amount that you give is up to you: it can be several dollars a month or a one-time contribution by cheque. Your pledge for a payroll deduction can start now or later. If you have lost the United Way form, please phone Eileen Dunham at the Payroll Office 432-3207.

Post No Bills

At this time of year hoarding is commonplace among the scholarly squirrels that reside in the northwest part of campus. Another, more obvious kind of hoarding, as in "a temporary fence enclosing a construction site," has sprung up in the neighborhood. The construction site, hard by the Education Gymnasium off 87 Avenue and 114 Street, is that of Carpark III.

Construction has necessitated the temporary closing of the east lane of 114 Street. Two-way traffic will still be maintained.

The $4.9 million facility, scheduled to be completed in advance of the (July) 1983 World University Games, will be able to accommodate 660 vehicles. The six-level car park, similar in design to Windsor Carpark, will also contain Parking Services and Campus Security offices.

A standard bridge will connect Carpark III to the west wing of Education South.

There is also hoarding in the area of The University of Alberta Universiade Pavilion, nee The University of Alberta Fieldhouse. A small plaza dotted with trees and benches will, weather permitting, materialize by the middle of December. The hoarding, somewhat in the manner of a circus "big top," will then be taken down and, in all likelihood, put up at another time and place on campus. □

Having at Havanas

•How horrible! To celebrate seventy-five years of growth and progress at the University, Housing and Food Services (Folio, 14 October) will spoil an excellent meal by providing foul smelling, dangerous-to-your-health cigars for the "gentlemen."

Sexist too!

It used to be that smokers were indeed gentlemen and retired to a "smoking room" to enjoy (?) all the smoke they wanted without inflicting their pollution upon others.

Unfortunately, the tobacco industry has convinced thousands of men and women to exchange their money for a noxious weed full of dangerous chemicals.

Some celebration! Oh, for the good old days — before tobacco.

Sensible Ways to Weight Control

Fridays — 1205-1255, Running Oct. 8 to Nov. 26.

From the hundreds of diets available to the public one fact emerges clearly: fad diets do not keep weight off. People who diet this way are destined to regain their lost weight. This course will help you to establish behavior patterns that will gradually remove excess weight and sustain this weight loss. No drastic changes in eating habits, no drugs or starvation — just a sensible system of eating and activity that will help you attain an ideal body weight and maintain it. Fee: $25.00.
